(Moosup, CT, & New York, NY) Connecticut Artist and Moosup native Christina Bolinger will have one of her works exhibited at the National Art Club as part of the Sublime and Surreal themed 17th Annual Roundtable Exhibition in New York City.

A photographer's assistant and model for many years; this was Christina's first entry in an art exhibit and submitted a small mixed media piece 24 inches square.

The National Arts Club showcases a variety of art genres by established Roundtable member artists as well as up-and-coming guest artists. Founded in 1898 to "stimulate, foster, and promote public interest in the arts and to educate the American people in the fine arts" the club occupies the Samuel J. Tilden House, a landmark Gothic Revival brownstone at 15 Gramercy Park, New York City.

The exhibit will open with a reception on Tuesday, April 15th from 6pm to 8pm and will run through April 27th.
